THE JACKSON CLAIM

What the Other Side Says Regarding It.

MOUNTAIN OF A MOLE HILL

The Widow Had a Technical Power in the First National Property Alone.

The claim of Mrs. W. P. Jackson to a dower interest in one-half of a block of ground in the business center of Sedalia, as set forth fully in last evening's DEMOCRAT, caused considerable talk throughout the city last night, and today persons without number have given critical inspection to deeds and abstracts that have been pigeon holed for years.

The claim of Mrs. Jackson is disputed by all of the parties interested except the owners of the First National bank building and the building joining on the north, occupied by the Mercurio Fruit Co.

It is claimed that either Mr. nor Mrs. Jackson ever owned any property on Second street west of the First National building, and for this reason there could be no question as to the validity of the respective titles. The same, so far as validity of title is concerned, is said to be the case as regards the piece of property occupied by Hart Bros., Bapple & McVey, Teufel & Oliver and Peter Kuhn.

Regarding the First National building and the one joining it on the north, the records show that the deed conveying it was made on November 1, 1865, and was filed for record August 17, 1866. In the main portion of the deed Mr. Jackson's name appears as making the conveyance, but Mrs. Jackson's name is omitted—a defect, it is admitted, but still not a material one, so it is claimed.

The copy of the original deed, however, on file in the recorder's office, shows it to have been signed by Mrs. Jackson, and also acknowledged by her in the presence of Justice Glasscock. In regard to her signature, Mrs. Jackson claims that she never signed the document, as she is unable to write, nor did she ever authorize any one to sign it in her behalf. This is the other side of the story, as gleaned by a DEMOCRAT reporter today.

As to why Receiver Latimer and Judge Shirk should have compromised with the claimant, a well known abstract man of the city said today:

"It is all plain enough. The bank property had been sold by the receiver to Fred Behnke for $16,000. Mr. Behnke demanded a quit-claim deed, and this could not be given because Mrs. Jackson's name had been omitted from the main portion of the deed conveying the property to the bank people.

"Rather than to permit the sale to fall through, however, the receiver compromised with Mrs. Jackson for a small sum, less than $500, and she then relinquished all interest in the property, provided she had any.

"The fact is, the entire story is on the sensational order, a mountain being made out of a mole hill, and the individual who should give Mrs. Jackson so much as $5 for her interest in any of the property the DEMOCRAT referred to yesterday, the First National excepted, would be just that much out of pocket."

RAPE IS CHARGED.

Arrest of James P. Selsor, Jr., a Fugitive from Lamonte.

Sheriff Porter left this afternoon for Kansas City, where he goes after James P. Selsor, jr., of Lamonte, who was arrested there this morning on the charge of attempted rape at Lamonte on February 28, 1894.

The victim of Selsor's lust was Miss Jessie Follen. Immediately after committing the crime Selsor fled from Lamonte and has been a fugitive from justice ever since.

This morning Sheriff Porter received a telegram from Chief of Police Speers, saying that the accused had been arrested. Unless something unforeseen arises he will be landed in the jail here tonight, and will be arraigned next month in the criminal court, as he has already been indicted.

SENSATIONAL DIVORCE SUIT

It Is Filed in St. Louis and Involves Prominent People.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., March 26.—A sensational suit for divorce was filed in the circuit court yesterday by James F. Coyle, of the firm of Coyle & Sargent, agents for an eastern silk house. Coyle charges his wife, Kitty, with infidelity, and names Henry W. Chandler, lately president of the H. W. Chandler Commission Co., as co respondent. All the parties to the suit are of middle age and stand high in the community socially. The Coyles were married in Linn county, Iowa, April 3, 1887, but have no children. Chandler is a man of family.

Want to Play Here.

Secretary Chapman is in receipt of a letter from Wm. Schmidt, manager of the Belleville, Ill., Clerks' ball club, asking for a date here with the Future Capitals, and it is quite likely two games will be arranged for July 4th—morning and afternoon. The Clerks is one of the strongest semi-professional clubs in the country and the Future Capitals will have to hustle to defeat them.

Burial of Col. Higgins.

The funeral of Col. Joseph C. Higgins took place from Blackwater chapel, about three miles from the home of the deceased, Sunday afternoon. The burial discourse was preached by Rev. J. M. Plannett, of this city, and the attendance was the largest ever seen at a funeral in that portion of the county.

How to Secure The Capitol

Now that much has been accomplished towards bringing the capital to Sedalia, you must not lose sight of the fact that much more needs to be done to secure it. Unceasing perseverance and vigorous work is highly necessary in order to be successful. A call for extra effort will be made upon all your citizens; the man of a somewhat depleted nerve system as well as the one with vigorous functions will be pressed into service.

To be able to more fully endure the strain that must be put forth, you should not fail to have your nerve and muscle system thoroughly toned up for the occasion, that you may not only enter into the work with a winning spirit, but that you may be possessed with the force of endurance so essential that victory will be assured.

Aug. T. Fleischmann will sell you the great nerve and muscle tonic and strengthening cordial—LOUTON'S NERVONAX, purely vegetable and perfectly harmless—recommended especially for brain workers.

DEMOCRATIC CITY TICKET.

FOR ALDERMEN.
First Ward—E. L. LOONEY.
Second Ward—MIKE ANDERSON.
Third Ward—DAN GROW.
Fourth Ward—B. F. MODE.
School Director—GEO. W. BARNETT.

WHAT IT MEANS.

The removal of the capital of Missouri to Sedalia means new, modern, commodious state buildings free of cost to the taxpayers of the state, and located in a beautiful, progressive, accessible city.

To keep the capital at Jefferson City means the expenditure of millions of the people's money in repairs or in erecting new buildings in that out-of-the-way place.

ELECTION FRAUDS.

The DEMOCRAT is earnestly in favor of the most rigid laws to preserve the purity of the ballot box; but, after all, election frauds are largely the fault of the community in which they are perpetrated.

Outside of the two large cities we have as fair, as honest, as pure elections in Missouri as anywhere in the country.

The trouble in the cities where fraud exists is as much due to the carelessness and inattention of the people who ought to control those cities as it is to the laws that are violated.

The mere enactment of law amounts to nothing—it must be enforced to be made effective.

It is as much a violation of law to commit election frauds in the cities as it is in the country, and the laws are quite as rigid.

But if one-half the fraud that is reported from Kansas City and St. Louis had been attempted in the average Missouri county, in all probability the coroner would have had a lot of work on his hands.

There are honest elections in the smaller cities and the country precincts because the best citizens take an interest in politics and will not countenance anything in the nature of fraud by their own party nor submit to it from their opponents.

The cities must pursue the same course before they purify their ballot boxes.

No matter what kind of laws are enacted by the general assembly, the work of enforcing them is largely in the hands of the people of the various communities.

If the best citizens of the large cities have not the patience, the time, the energy, the intelligence and the patriotism to take hold of the political machinery and see that the ballot boxes are kept pure, they cannot expect to maintain their republican institutions.

That "eternal vigilance is the price of liberty" is as true now as it was a hundred years ago, and that vigilance must be directed as much against the domestic foe as against the foreign invader.

A large majority of the membership of both parties in St. Louis and Kansas City are good, honest, well-meaning men earnestly desirous of their country's good; but if they would have honest elections they must assert themselves and assume control of the party machinery and neither permit fraud to be practiced in the interest of their own ticket nor submit to it from their opponents.

Give the corruptionist, the ward heeler, the bum and the quasi-criminal a rest from the duties of statesmanship.

Good, efficient laws will aid in this, but law alone cannot accomplish the reforms desired.

THE Sedalia school board is equally divided politically, and the people generally approve of the board's policy. Elect the four democratic councilmen and that body will remain equally divided. Business, not partisanship, is what Sedalia must attend to during the next twelve months. The industrial stagnation is being overcome, and the Queen City must be on the move.

THOSE newspapers which are trying to make their readers believe that capital removal will cost the taxpayers millions of dollars, in face of the fact that the constitutional amendment provides that removal shall be made free of cost to the state, are not acting fairly. They dodge the real issue, and by dodging it admit that Sedalia ought to be the capital.

SEDALIANS are proverbially progressive, and they recognize the fact that a prosperous city must push steadily forward in public improvements. Just now is the time to inaugurate the paving campaign in earnest, and the property owner who attempts to retard or delay the needed work stands in his own light.

THE ordinance to cheapen street sprinkling is a move in the direction of progress, and that Mike Anderson favored it will not lose him any votes in the end. Sedalia cannot afford to take backward steps just now, and she can best secure progress by endorsing progressive men and selecting them as city officials.

GOVERNOR STONE has the people of the state with him in his earnest efforts to secure the enactment of a wise, just fellow-servant bill and more efficient election laws for preventing election frauds. The failure of the general assembly to enact these measures is good cause for calling an extra session.

LEE LOONEY is a splendid representative of the hustling, enterprising, progressive young business man. He is thoroughly acquainted with the needs of the city and familiar with municipal affairs. The voters of the First ward cannot afford to turn such a man down.

If an extra session of the general assembly is held next fall Boss Filley should be prevailed upon to withdraw his elections bill. What we want in the direction of election reforms is less bossism and more patriotism.

THE effort of a young Jap to murder the Chinese peace envoy has done more to injure Japan than all the iron-clads and armies of the Chinese empire.

SEDALIA never had a more conscientious, wide-awake, progressive alderman than Mike Anderson, and he will be returned by a splendid majority.

THE increased earnings of the railroads is a good sign. Increased earnings means more railroad building.

Lamentable Ignorance.

It is with surprise, tinged with pity, says the Clinton Democrat, that we observe this item in the Kansas City Star:

Sometimes in Clinton they call whisky "ape juice," and other times "white mule."

The Star is inaccurate to the verge of ignorance. "Ape juice" is a preparation of hard cider, five cents' worth of which is warranted to produce a jag that is really stupendous, while "white mule" is nothing more nor less than clear alcohol diluted more or less with aqua pura. Both are favorite beverages among the population of Sahara avenue.

Damaged by Fire.

The residence of Jas. E. Lytle, Seventh and Washington streets, was damaged considerably by fire, which originated in the cellar, at 2 o'clock this morning.

The loss by fire and water will reach nearly $1,000. The building was insured up to two months ago, at which time the policy expired. The family lost all of their summer clothing, and their household goods were considerably damaged also, with no insurance on either. Mr. Lytle inclines to the belief that the fire was of incendiary origin.

Beautifying His Place.

Mr. E. Lamy, residing at the southeast corner of Tenth and Ohio streets, is erecting a handsome porch on the north and west sides of his home, after which the building will be given a couple of coats of paint.

AN EXTRA SESSION.

Governor Stone Said He Would Be Justified in Calling One.

There is strong talk here over an extra session of the legislature, says the Jefferson City correspondent of the Republic. A call on Governor Stone by the Republic correspondent affords additional ground for the belief that an extra session is to be called.

"I quite agree with the Republic," said the governor, "that I would be perfectly justified in calling an extra session of the legislature for the purpose of enacting a desirable election law and also a fellow-servant law."

This is all the governor would say on the subject. There is no question, however, but what the governor has the matter under advisement, and it is confidently expected that a conclusion will be reached inside of the next ten days.

The democrats consider that the legislature committed a most costly blunder in not enacting a fellow servant and an election law before adjournment. Some argue that a special session would result in desirable legislation on both of these subjects. Lobby influence, it is argued, would be greatly weakened, as the members would not have individual legislation to care for. Many of the gang who infested the halls of the capitol a week ago would find no means of employment during an extra session.

Many old and experienced politicians say that unless a fellow servant law is enacted, the entire labor vote of the state will desert the democratic party.

How a fellow servant law passed the house in the face of so many railroad passes, and the complete and unexplained absence of the railroad lobby is a question for the railroad lobby and "Boss" Filley to answer. That there was a deal of some kind no one doubts.

A few minutes after the bill had passed "Fire Alarm" Flannigan, the republican man Friday of the railroad lobby, was heard to remark: "That was no test vote. That don't amount to anything."

Through some deal the lobby allowed the bill to pass the house, because it never could have passed otherwise. Every day additional light is being thrown on this matter, and leading democrats all over the state are demanding an extra session of the legislature.

A WOMAN'S HEROISM.

She Keeps a Crowd of Murderous Negroes at Bay.

VICKSBURG, Miss., March 26.—Details of the heroic defense of a storeboat at Carolina Landing, Issaquana county, have just reached this city from Mayersville. Its proprietor, D. R. King, who was shot down last Tuesday night in the most treacherous manner by a party of negroes, who designed to plunder the boat. King's wife, however, only 20 years old, and having a baby at her breast, seized a revolver and kept the negroes at bay.

They made several attacks with pistols and shotguns, firing repeatedly through the boat, but she beat them off, although one of them wounded her with an ax while attempting to chop down the door. All night long she mounted guard over the boat, while her wounded husband lay weltering in his blood. Force having failed the negroes tried deception, claiming to have brought a doctor to treat the wounded husband. King was brought here today. He is terribly wounded in the face and upper jaw and may lose his sight. His wife is certain she killed one of the attacking party and wounded another. One of the negroes has been captured. They are all well known and their arrest is certain.

Deserted His Family.

Chief of Police Kahrs was today notified that Fred Brown had deserted his wife and three children at Hannibal and the belief prevailed that he had come to Sedalia. Chief Kahrs investigated the case personally, and is almost positive that Brown left here for Clifton Heights, near St. Louis, last Sunday.

He is a very able and forcible preacher and left impressions upon many which will never be forgotten. He will next conduct a series of revival meetings in Louisville, Ky., beginning next Sunday.

M'KINLEY AND FREE SILVER

He Would Not Run for President on an Extreme Policy.

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 25.—Governor McKinley and his party are expected to visit here Thursday as the personal guests of Henry M. Flagler, of New York, the Standard Oil man, the promised visit of today having been delayed on the advice of his physician.

In Thomasville a letter was received by the governor from a hundred or more citizens of Georgia, pledging him the solid vote of Georgia in a national republican convention and assuring him of a fighting chance to get the electoral vote of that state, provided he would declare himself an advocate of free silver. The letter also intimated that the republican national platform of 1896 might contain a silver plank.

When the letter was read aloud to him Governor McKinley was indignant. He said: "The republican party should declare for free silver I would decline to become a candidate, and I would quit the party forever."

STIRRED UP BY SLATTERY.

Ex-Priest Lectures in Memphis, Tenn., and a Big Row Follows.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 26.—Ex-Priest Slattery lectured at the Auditorium last night. The meeting came near ending in a serious disturbance, and but for the ex-priest's hurried exit from the city while the excitement was at its height, he might have encountered rather severe treatment. There was no sign of disorder until near the close of the lecture, when a man in the center of the house arose and excitedly shouted: "You're a liar, you're a liar against religion."

Half the audience were on their feet in an instant but before the disturber could say anything more he was grabbed by an officer and ejected. After order was restored, Slattery concluded his remarks without interruption. Slattery took the first train for the south. An excited crowd gathered at the hotel, thinking he had gone there, but after learning that he had left the city, they quietly dispersed.

His Toes Crushed.

Last night at 8:30 Ed Rinehart, a section hand on the M. K. & T., fell between two moving freight cars in the railroad yards, says the Clinton Democrat, and the wheels crushed the end of his left foot, mashing to a pulp the tips of all the toes except the little one. Dr. Holcomb did not deem it necessary to amputate the members, but dressed the wounds and he went to his home in Montrose the same evening.

Eureka Chemical and Mfg Co., La Crosse, Wis.

Dear Sirs—I have been a tobacco fiend for many years, and during the past two years have smoked fifteen to twenty cigars regularly every day. My whole nervous system became affected, until my physician told me I must give up the use of tobacco for the time being, at least. I tried the so-called "Keeley Cure," "Nux-Tonic," and various other remedies, but without success, until I accidentally learned of your "Baco Curo." Three weeks ago today I commenced using your preparation, and to-day I consider myself completely cured! I am in perfect health, and the horrible craving for tobacco, which every inveterate smoker fully appreciates, has completely left me. I consider your "Baco Curo" simply wonderful, and can fully recommend it.

Yours very truly, C. W. HORNICK.

RAILROAD RUMBLE.

The M., K. & T. Having Trouble at Hannibal.

AS TO OVERHEAD BRIDGES

Items of Interest Picked Up From Various Sources for the Benefit of "Democrat" Readers.

The street commissioner with a force of men tore up parts of two tracks laid by the Missouri, Kansas & Texas on Front street, in Hannibal, yesterday.

The city council claims that the company has no right to lay tracks without permission from the council, while the company claims the right to lay tracks anywhere on Front street on the public landing under the provisions of the franchise granted the Hannibal and Missouri Central company in 1868. The matter will probably be carried into the courts.

The Company Is Liable.

The Kentucky court of appeals held, in a recent case, that a railroad company was guilty of willful neglect in having an overhead bridge on its road under which brakemen on the top of freight trains could not pass without the exercise of more than ordinary care.

Also, that even though a bridge might be of such a height as to enable an ordinarily prudent brakeman to remain on the top of the car when nothing intervened to divert his attention from the necessity of stooping in order to pass through safely, still the company was guilty of willful negligence as to a brakeman who, by reason of some emergency which required prompt action as his train approached the bridge, failed to discover his danger and was killed in coming in contact with the bridge.

Railway Earnings.

Since the close of the last cold wave period, in the middle of February, railway earnings have been larger every week than they were in the corresponding week of last year, says the St. Louis Republic.

At least, that was the case up to the third week of the present month, and there is good reason to believe that the only change since has been in the direction of larger gains. The increase of 69 roads whose earnings for the second week of the month have been reported was nearly 2 per cent for that week.

While the gains reported by St. Louis lines do not average as well during some weeks in February, the reports of losses affect the general average very little this time.

One loss reported for the second week of March was hardly more than nominal, being only $20. The Missouri, Kansas and Texas leads again in gains, having earned nearly $55,000 more that week than in the corresponding week of 1894. All the southwestern lines increased their earnings except one, and it is in the hands of a receiver. The Frisco's loss was, however, small—only about $3,000.

The eastern trunk lines—the Big Four and Baltimore and Southwestern—gained over $10,000 each, and as much may be said for another trunk line—the Wabash.

Coach, Cab and Caboose.

Col. L. F. Sheldon left this forenoon for St. Louis.

Jas. E. Lytle, agent for the M., K. & T. at Moberly, will be home tonight.

Conductor John Wrightman and his bright little son, Fred, visited at Tipton today.

Wes Holmesley, the Missouri Pacific lineman, came down from Lexington this morning.

Col. A. C. Miner, traveling passenger agent for the M., K. & T., came home from St. Louis this morning.

W. P. Wilson, a conductor on the Wabash, and running out of Springfield, Ill., is the guest of his brother, Conductor Alonzo Wilson, of the M., K. & T.

Conductor Sam Goddard has resumed his Lexington branch run, after a few days lay off, and brought in a Lafayette county jagger for the Miner institute this morning.

Mineral City, Kas., a station located on the Southwestern Mineral railway branch of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railway, twenty-three miles southeast from Parsons, has been opened for business, with an agent in charge.

Conductor M. V. Burnap left this morning for Albuquerque, New Mexico, after his wife and children, who have been sojourning there since September last, for the benefit of Mrs. Burnap's health. For a time after her arrival there the lady grew better, but more recently no improvement has been perceptible, and hence the determination to return home.

WANTS BIG DAMAGES.

Anna Dickinson Sues for $125,000 for False Imprisonment.

SCRANTON, Pa., March 26.—Anna Dickinson, the one-time republican lecturer, has brought suit against the Pennsylvania Asylum for the Insane at Danville, Pa., to recover $125,000 damages for false imprisonment. The trustees of the asylum, Geo. B. Thompson, Allen Eggleston, John S. Heilman, George Underwood and Henry L. Bryden, are named as defendants.

The case was called in the United States court yesterday, Judge Acheson presiding, and was continued. Miss Dickinson charges in her complaint that her committal and detention in the asylum was the result of conspiracy. She was kept there for five weeks against her will in the spring of 1889, soon after her collapse in New York.

Ex-Judge Daly, of New York, is Miss Dickinson's counsel, and associated with him is W. S. McLean, a lawyer of Wilkesbarre.

Marriage of Dr. Fuller and Mrs. Sinnett Last Evening.

It was a friendly and well-pleased audience that assembled at the First Baptist church last night to witness the marriage of the beloved and eloquent pastor, Dr. Jonathan B. Fuller, and Mrs. Julia Leake Sinnett, daughter of the late J. P. Leake and widow of Henry C. Sinnett.

Long before the time fixed for the marriage the edifice was filled even to the threshold of the various doors, and still friends and well-wishers continued to arrive.

The church was brilliantly illuminated, and palms and ferns beautified the altar. At 8 o'clock Mrs. F. C. Billings, the organist, began playing the wedding march from Mendelssohn. At the same time the ushers, Dr. Geo. N. McNeil, W. A. Brown, Grant Crawford and Geo. McCurdy proceeded down the aisle and took their position at the right of the altar. Following came the aged father of the groom, Wm. Fuller, and Harry Sinnett, son of the bride, and W. J. Maltby and family, Mrs. Maltby being a sister of the bride.

The bride and groom entered the church through the west doorway and were met at the altar by Dr. J. P. Greene, president of William Jewell college at Liberty, Mo., who in a simple and impressive manner performed the marriage ceremony.

Immediately afterwards, the bridal party departed from the church and proceeded to the home of the bride, where their friends will be welcomed for the time being.

Dr. Fuller is universally recognized as one of the most able and eloquent divines in the state, while his bride, one of Sedalia's most gifted women, has for months been to him an intellectual companion. The DEMOCRAT extends its heartiest congratulations, and wishes for them health, happiness and prosperity.

No Quorum Last Night.

The special meeting of the council booked for last night failed to bring out a quorum. It has been decided that it takes six members in order to suspend the rules, and as only five were present, no business was attempted.

A Card.

To the Editor of the DEMOCRAT:

DEAR SIR.—We notice in your issue of March 3 an advertisement under head of "Still Another Enterprise," stating we were being supplied with meat by other parties here, etc.

Now, we want it distinctly understood that we are being furnished with meat by no one. We handle both home and Kansas City meats. The home, or Pettis county meat, we buy direct from the farmers ourselves; the Kansas City meats we order direct from the packing houses ourselves. By so doing this enables us to select nothing but the best cattle at home and order nothing but the choicest quality from Kansas City.

We keep on hand constantly the largest assortment in our line of any firm in the city. Nothing in our line that we cannot furnish.

We will sell you choice sugar cured hams at 10½ cents.

Get one of our prime roasts or some of our old fashioned country sausage, the only all pork sausage in town, for which we offer a reward of $10 for every ounce of beef found in it. Call up telephone 120. NEWTON MEAT CO.

Kilrain in Demand.

A good deal of anxiety is expressed lest the illness of John L. Sullivan may do away with the possibility of bringing the ex-champion and Jake Kilrain together in a boxing match in New York, arrangements for which were started last week.

Since his fine showing with O'Donnell, Kilrain has been the recipient of offers to meet several well known pugilists. He said yesterday:

"I am after Sullivan; it would be more to my advantage to meet him than anyone else."

The Athletic club of New York wants him to spar ten rounds with Peter Maher about the middle of April, and he has received an offer from Montreal for a ten-round bout with Billy Woods, to come off in the latter part of April.

Not Yet Settled.

R. N. Morrow, of the Court House Market, has not yet settled with the companies in which he was insured. He carried $1,800 insurance on his fixtures, but the adjusters wanted to settled for less than $700, which Mr. Morrow would not accept. Litigation may follow.

CHRISTIAN HEALING.

A Woman Arrested for Practicing Medicine Without License.

Mrs. A. J. Baird, a christian scientist, was arrested at her office at 1214 Main street yesterday forenoon by Health Officer Pope for practicing medicine without a license, says the Kansas City Times. The attention of the authorities was directed to Mrs. Baird, it is said, by the death of Harvey W. Bosworth, vice-president of the Beatham Manufacturing company, who died Saturday. For six days prior to his death Mr. Bosworth had been under the care of christian scientists. The day he died two physicians, Dr. C. F. Wainwright and Dr. J. P. Jackson, were called in. They were called too late, for Mr. Bosworth was unconscious and dying when they arrived. When the certificate of death was presented to the two physicians to sign they refused to do so, because the dead man had never been under the care of a regular physician. Coroner Bedford was called in and investigated the death of Mr. Bosworth, and found that he died of diabetic coma. The coroner signed the death certificate.

Mrs. Baird was greatly surprised when she was placed under arrest. She gave bond for her appearance before Police Judge Jones today.

Probably the only case upon record where a Christian Scientist has been tried for practicing medicine without a license is that of Ezra M. Buswell, of Beatrice, Neb. Mr. Buswell was the pastor of the Church of Christ, Scientist, of Beatrice, Neb., from 1888 to 1893. There were ninety members of the church, and they relied upon the efficiency of christian science to effect a cure. In the spring of 1893 Mr. Buswell was indicted by the district grand jury under the Nebraska statute forbidding anyone to practice medicine without having previously secured a diploma from the state board of health. The case was called for trial February 28, 1893.

INSURANCE COMBINE.

Judge McKenna Holds That the Compact Is a Legal One.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., March 26.—Judge McKenna in the United States circuit court rendered a decision yesterday in the injunction proceedings brought by the Continental Insurance company against the Board of Fire Underwriters of the Pacific coast. He holds that the Board of Underwriters is a legal body, and that its members had a right to say they would not do business with companies not members of the union. He holds, however, that the union underwriters had no right to publicly advertise, through their agents, that they would cancel any Continental policies brought to them and reinsure the holders in union companies. In their original complaint the agents of the Continental company allege that an unlawful boycott had been declared against companies not belonging to the Union.

WESTERN "TOUGHS"

Stories About Bill Hicock,
Known as "Wild Bill."

HIS CAREER IN ABILENE.

He Ended His Career at Deadwood,
South Dakota, in 1876—Other
Bad Men.

An old-timer in Kansas City was found in a reminiscent mood the other day and told some interesting anecdotes of the early days of Kansas City. Tom Speers has been chief of police for twenty-one years and all the men who served before him were named in their order.

From the life and times in Kansas City in the '70s, he branched off to the histories and incidents connected with the frontier towns which were not complete, in a mention of Wild Bill.

Of all the marshals of those frontier towns in those days, William Hicock, better known as Wild Bill, gained the greatest notoriety. All this arose from the fact that he lived through the summer of 1871 as the marshal of Abilene, Kas., whose reputation, next to that of Newton, Kas., in 1872, as the resort for desperadoes, took the palm. Wild Bill had killed two men within a minute, with a revolver in either hand and that, with the fact that he had been with General Custer as a scout on the plains, together with his fine personal appearance, gave him a national reputation.

Bill Hicock was a unique character. He was six feet one inch in height and straight as an arrow. He was what was known as an all-round sport, and although he drank freely, never was boisterous. Wherever he appeared he attracted attention, not only from his martial bearing, but because he wore his hair, which was of a sandy color, long, falling as it did below his shoulders. His mustache was very heavy and of the same color as his hair. For headgear he wore a black sombrero, slightly tipped to one side. He was a typical frontiersman, a student of human nature, always cool and collected. He understood the characteristic of the desperado, who had to be very quick with his revolver to get ahead of Wild Bill. He finally "bit the dust," however, at Deadwood, S. D., in 1876, of which place he was marshal when it required a man of his nerve to hold the position. But he was killed by a wound in the back, while engaged in a game of cards in a saloon, by the brother of a desperado whom he had killed. The murderer was apprehended and afterward hanged at Yankton.

Major Moses B. George, who held his cattle by the thousands in those days near Abilene, Kansas, and who has had as much experience on the frontier as most men, was talking about Wild Bill the other day at the Live Stock exchange. The major was not only engaged in the handling of cattle but he owned, as an investment, what was known in 1871 at Abilene as the Drovers' Cottage. He hired a man to run it, as the major, although nearly 70 years of age, had resisted the charms of the fair sex and remained a bachelor.

"I tell you," said the major, "Abilene was a hummer in 1870 and 1871. The cattle season only lasted from July to October, but during that time hardly a week elapsed but one or two violent deaths occurred. We had trouble finding a man to take the position of marshal, for it was a mighty risky job. The cowboys then were the most desperate class of men in the world, and when intoxicated had no respect for human life. In 1870 we had Tom Smith for marshal, and he was killed by a settler named Palmer, an ex-soldier, whom Smith attempted to arrest. For the balance of the season we managed to pull through, but in 1871 it was determined to get a man who could cope with the cowboys, so we wrote to the chief of police of St. Louis to send us a couple of men. He did as we requested, but those men did not stay but one day, because they said they were not ready to die. Bill Hicock, Wild Bill, as they called him, came along and we hired him at $200 a month, and he was worth it, because he kept things straight. I thought so much of that man that I boarded him at the Drovers' Cottage and did not charge him a cent.

"The most exciting episode that summer," continued the major, "was when Hicock killed two men within a minute with a revolver in either hand, Phil Cole, a gambler and cowboy from Gonzales county, Texas, had a fuss with Hicock and was about to kill him when, with a revolver in his right hand, Hicock got the drop first. Just then his assistant, a man from Kansas City, rushed up to help him and in a second, Hicock, thinking the man was coming to Cole's relief, as it was a very poorly lighted room, fired the revolver in his left hand. Both fell dead, and there stood Hicock as cool as if nothing had happened. While everyone regretted the killing of the deputy, yet the fact that Hicock had shown what he could do in an emergency caused him to be regarded by those interested in Abilene as the man for the place."

At the close of the cattle season at Abilene in the fall of 1871 Wild Bill came to Kansas City and was a familiar figure on the streets, off and on, for about eighteen months. He boarded at the old Lindell hotel, which stood at the northwest corner of Wyandotte and Fifth streets. He dressed well, and always had money, although he "toiled not, neither did he spin," because there was plenty of gambling houses in Kansas City in those days, and the sound of the rattling faro checks and the voice of the caller in the keno room as one walked along Main street at night from Third to Fourth streets, and on Third from Main to Walnut, could be plainly heard. Andy Roff, the long-haired Texas cattleman, who was some years after killed by cattle thieves in Texas, was a chum of Wild Bill in those days. Roff was financially interested in a variety theatre known as the Walnut Street. It was there where Wild Bill could generally be found on an evening and which was a popular resort for men from the frontier. Money came easy and went easy in those days.

But life in Kansas City was too civilized for Hicock, and he finally went west again, winding up his remarkable career, as already stated, at Deadwood, S. D. Before going west, however, he married Mrs. Lake, an equestrienne, widow of Lake, the circus man, who was killed at Neosho, in Southwest Missouri.

FLOGGED A NEGRO.

Citizens of New Franklin Mete Out Punishment.

Barney Wilhite was confined in the city jail at New Franklin, charged with being drunk and using profane and indecent language on the street and in the presence of white ladies.

Wilhite is a tough character, and on Friday night last, a number of citizens took the law into their own hands, forced an entrance into the jail, took the negro out and gave him a good flogging.

They then turned him loose and fired a few pistol shots in the air, which caused the negro to leave town.

In the fall of 1893 a son of Mr. T. A. McFarland, a prominent merchant of Live Oak, Sutter Co., Cal., was taken with a very heavy cold. The pains in his chest were so severe that he had spasms and was threatened with pneumonia. His father gave him several large doses of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which broke up the cough and cured him. Mr. McFarland says whenever his children have croup he invariably gives them Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and it always cures them. He considers it the best cough remedy in the market.

HE GOT A BRIDE.

But Not the One for Which He Had Taken the License.

Bernard Nicora, a farmer aged fifty-five years, had the misfortune to lose a prospective bride on his wedding day, says Deseret Evening News. He also had the good fortune to win another bride the next day. In looking over the field, he seems to think he did well by having a quarrel just as he was about to be married. He lost an old bride and won a young one. One morning the farmer went to Oakland in order to get married. He called at the office of the county clerk and announced that he was going to be wedded and wanted a license in a hurry. He got it, and again two days later stepped up to the marriage license counter. "I want to pay for another marriage license," said he. "You mean that you want to get a divorce," replied Deputy Spaulding. "Oh, no," said the farmer; "you see, I have not got my bride yet. I have made a new deal." The man from Lincoln then explained the situation, and told how he had missed an old bride for a young one. He had made all his arrangements to wed Miss Dalcho, but they had a row just before the ceremony. The lady desired to impose certain conditions on her prospective husband and wanted five hundred dollars, and he would not submit, and there was a quarrel. The wedding was declared off. Farmer Nicora was sad for a time, but he had come to Oakland to get a bride, and he was not going home empty handed. While he was rustling around town he was introduced to Miss Ernestine Merchandie, a young lady of twenty-two years. He told her of his predicament and prospects, and proposed marriage to her on the spot. To his surprise and gratification he was accepted, and the wedding was arranged for at once. The young lady had no conditions to impose and this suited the farmer all right. It was agreed that the nuptial knot should be tied in a few hours.

Attitude of Press Toward Religion.

It is frequently claimed that the daily newspapers do not devote the space they should to matters of religion. It is also said that the newspaper is essentially an echo, not an originator; that it must cater to public demands. Well, some person has attempted to find out the attitude of the secular press towards religion. One result is rather surprising. Chicago is believed to be preeminently a wicked, irreligious city. Yet more space is devoted by her dailies to religious news than by the press of any other city. The Monday papers in the Windy city give up many columns to reporting sermons and addresses of that character. It is true that the greater part of these represent the independents and free lances. But it shows that there is more of a religious spirit there than one would suppose, even though it tends toward liberalism.

Explanations of the Ocean's Salt.

The Pythagoreans held that the sea was salt by reason of tears shed by Kronos, father of Zeus. According to the old Hebraic tradition the ocean was originally a great body of fresh water, but which was made salt by the abundant tears of the fallen angels. One sect of Buddhists believe that Lot's wife (that is to say the "pillar of salt" which was once the wife of the humble gentleman named above) lies at the bottom of the ocean in a certain narrow strait, and that once each year the waters of all oceans flow through that narrow channel. The Talmudic writers say that it was never salt until Moses wept repentance after breaking the tables of stone.

A Phenomenon Explained.

An American in Germany was surprised to find a number of cripples among the celebrated college professors, men whose high standard of learning makes them famous the world over. One Berlin professor is wheeled into the lecture room every day, and there are others similarly, though for the most part less painfully afflicted. This is due partly to the fact that under the military regime of Germany when a boy is disqualified for the army he is trained for science or the law.

Thomas Was Right.

"Boys," said a teacher in a Sunday school, "can any of you quote a verse from Scripture to prove it is wrong for a man to have two wives?" He paused, and after a moment or two a bright boy raised his hand. "Well, Thomas," said the teacher, encouragingly. Thomas stood up and said: "No man can serve two masters." The question ended there. —Boston Home Journal.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE.

Reverend Simpson's Utterances From a Washington Pulpit Regarding It.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 26 — At the Eastern Presbyterian church Rev. A. B. Simpson, the leader of a course of revival meetings throughout the south, addressed a large audience upon the subject of faith cure last night. After he had talked at length upon the subject, he explained that he did not want the audience to confound the faith cure he advocated with Christian science, for Christian science was to use his words, "a fallacious lie."

In the audience was Miss Sophronia C. Snow. Miss Snow has been for years an earnest worker in Christian science in this city, and this startling sentiment from a minister almost stunned her Christian sensibility, but she bore the attack on her religion until Dr. Easton, pastor of the church, said, at the conclusion of Dr. Simpson's remarks, that he was glad Mr. Simpson had explained there was a difference between the faith cure of which he spoke and Christian science, and he fully concurred in Dr. Simpson's remarks.

This was more than Miss Snow could bear. The benediction had been pronounced, and the people were passing from their seats, but she called to Drs. Easton and Simpson, who were standing together, to call the meeting to order again, which they did. Miss Snow then mounted the platform and caused considerable commotion by her remarks. There were many in the audience who sided with Miss Snow, and while they stopped to hear what she had to say, there was considerable more excitement and stir than usually accompanies a religious meeting.

SAD FATE OF SISTERS.

All Three Eloped and Ended Their Lives With Morphine.

Francis Bailey, 28 years old, was found dead in her room in Chicago Sunday, having taken morphine. She was the third of a family of four sisters to end her life in this manner.

The unfortunate woman was brought up in Allegan, Mich., where her father at one time was a prosperous merchant. The parents took pride in their daughters and gave them every advantage in the way of education. They were excellent musicians, and their beauty attracted general attention.

The oldest daughter, Edna, fell in love with a professional roller skater and eloped with him. One morning about a year ago she was found dead in her room in a Grand Rapids boarding house. She had taken morphine. She was 28 years old. Her father died less than six months later of a broken heart.

For some time after the father's death the other daughters remained at home, but a few months later Grace, the youngest, eloped with an actor. She was 25 years old. She drifted to Chicago and February 23 was found dead in her room. She also had taken morphine.

Francis, the last one to kill herself, ran away from home with a traveling salesman. She was 28 years old. She, too, came to Chicago after she had been deserted, and she also died by morphine.

SURGERY NECESSARY.

Heroic Remedy Resorted to to Preserve Life.

A delicate surgical operation was performed this morning upon Mrs. W. P. King, by Dr. Willis P. King, of Kansas City, assisted by Drs. Callaway, Wilson, Kelso and Dulin, says the Nevada Mail of Monday.

Mrs. King was taken with labor Sunday. All efforts at a natural delivery failed, and the child had to be removed through an opening in the abdomen, known as cesarean section.

The mother and child were doing as well as could be expected up to 3 o'clock this afternoon.

The many friends of Mrs. King will learn of her serious condition with sadness.

Mr. King's mother and sister, of Kansas City, were called here this afternoon by telegram on account of the serious condition of Mrs. King.

Six of the fourteen United States and state prisoners confined in the joint prison in Fort Scott escaped Sunday night by sawing through the iron grating and squeezing themselves through an aperture seven inches wide and sixteen inches long.

The others are Robbins, alias Kessie Lambley, a federal prisoner charged with horse stealing in the territory; Mark Forney, state prisoner charged with robbery; Charles B. and Will Thornton, of Muskogee, I. ## Death of Dr. H. A. Tompkins.

Dr. H. A. Tompkins, an aged and well known citizen, died near Boonville Sunday and was buried Monday with Masonic honors.

The undersigned desire us to publish the following extract from a letter of Chas. M. Gutfeld, of Reedley, Fresno Co., Cal., as they handle the remedy referred to and want their customers to know what a splendid medicine it is:

"It is with pleasure I tell you that by one day's use of Chamberlain's Cough remedy I was relieved of a very severe cold. My head was completely stopped up and I could not sleep at night. I can recommend this remedy." A cold nearly always starts in the head and afterwards extends to the throat and lungs. By using this remedy freely as soon as the cold has been contracted it will cure the cold at once and prevent it from extending to the lungs.

CLOSE OF THE WAR.

Brave Deeds of the Army Which Marched into the Crimea.

The formally ratified treaty of peace was brought to London by Hon. William Stuart, first attache to the British embassy at Paris, on the 28th of April, 1856. Sunday, the 4th of May, was observed as a day of general thanksgiving to Almighty God for the preservation of peace, and on Monday, the 5th, it was formally proclaimed in London, with the usual solemnities, says the New York Advertiser. Addresses to the crown, approving of the peace, were carried in both houses of parliament on the evening of that day, and on the 28th both houses cordially voted "thanks to the army, navy and marines employed in the operations of the late war." The feelings entertained toward the men who fought and bled in the Crimea by the queen, the government and the people of England are also placed on record in an excellent dispatch of Lord Panmure's, which will be perpetuated as long as the language exists.

"Since the period," said the noble secretary of war, "when the army first quitted the shores of England there has been no vicissitude of war which it has not been called upon to encounter. It was assailed by cholera shortly after it arrived in Turkey. Then was proved that moral as well as physical courage pervaded its ranks. Led to the field, it triumphed in engagements in which heavy odds were on the enemy's side. It carried on, under difficulties almost incredible, a siege of unprecedented duration, in the course of which the trying duties of the trenches, privations from straitened supplies and the fearful diminution of its numbers from disease neither shook its courage nor impaired its discipline. Notwithstanding that many a gallant comrade fell in their ranks and many were called upon to mourn the gallant commander who led them from England and who closed in the field his noble career as a soldier, her majesty's troops never flinched from their duties nor disappointed the sanguine hopes of the country."

THE BOLTS OF JOVE.

Spots Which They Seem to Delight to Especially Favor.

It is a well-known fact that the "bolts of Jove" seem to have a special spite at certain spots, and that the old saying: "Lightning never strikes twice in the same place," is as false, says the St. Louis Republic, as most of the old proverbs are. The writer knows a tree that has been struck by lightning five times since July 3, 1884—a gate-post standing within two rods of that tree having twice been struck since the same date. During the last seven years five horses have been killed by lightning on a single knoll on the French farm, which lies on the road leading from Flint to Flushing, Mich., and nearly every tree on the same farm is said to bear the marks of the "forked fury." An open lot at East Great Plains, Conn., has been "hit by thunderbolts," as an old resident of that place expresses it, eleven different times since the spring of 1887, and a piece of woods not more than half a mile away has been literally riddled by the electric shots. At West Heath, Mass., a hill near the village schoolhouse has been struck by lightning so often that the old settlers have tried trying to keep a record of the singular occurrences.

Two miles out from the little village of Gosport, Ia., two houses and a barn have been struck by lightning on a patch of one-fourth of an acre, and several head of stock were killed on the same spot before it was fenced in for residence purposes.

Too Terrible for Anything.

A party of young ladies were visiting a photograph gallery in Austin. "Do you know, girls," carelessly observed one of them, "that in the photographer's camera everything stands on its head?"

"It can't be possible!" exclaimed one of the young ladies, growing pale and trembling like an aspen leaf. "You don't mean that?"

"But it's so. Why? What's the matter with you?" said the first speaker.

"Mercy on me! Why, I had my photograph taken here last Monday, and—and—oh, it's just too horrible for anything!"—Tammany Times.

Paper Horseshoes the Latest.

The German army has recently been testing horseshoes made of paper. It has been found that their lightness and elasticity make it possible for a horse so shod to travel faster and farther without fatigue than one shod with iron, and they are entirely impervious to water or other liquids. The shoes are made by very much the same process as the paper car wheels, and consist of thin sheets of paper pressed in a solid mass by hydraulic machinery. They can be fastened to the hoof of a horse either by nails or a kind of glue made of coal tar and rubber.—Chicago News.
